Application for Final Year Internship – Software Engineering Student

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for a Final Year Internship (End-of-Studies Project) opportunity within your organization. I am currently a final-year Software Engineering student in Tunisia, with more than 2.5 years of professional experience. I am eager to apply both my academic knowledge and professional experience in a dynamic and professional environment.

Throughout my academic and professional journey, I have developed strong foundations in software development, problem-solving, and system design. Through various academic and real-world projects, I gained hands-on experience working with modern full-stack development technologies, including Java Spring Boot with Angular, the MERN stack, and C# with .NET. I have also been exposed to DevOps practices, which helped me understand software deployment processes, development workflows, and collaboration within modern development environments. These experiences strengthened my analytical thinking, programming abilities, and teamwork skills while allowing me to adapt quickly to new technologies and continuously improve my technical expertise.

I am highly motivated, detail-oriented, and committed to delivering quality work. My objective is to contribute meaningfully to real-world projects while gaining valuable industry experience that will help shape my career as a software engineer.

I would welcome the opportunity to further discuss how my skills and motivation can add value to your team. Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Walid Boulima
